Lighting the way

Jon Santacoloma Moro came to DMU from Spain to study for his Product Design degree, specialising in lighting. He graduated in 2000 having had a great experience at DMU.

"It was excellent. Excellent in personal work and excellent in intercultural relations – different languages and cultures and a global consideration have been very useful."

Returning to Spain, Jon founded Ideilan Design and became an entrepreneur.

"I've developed collaborations with several important firms. As a result I have contributed to the creation of several products, for which we have won awards."

These awards include the International Design Award 2007 (Los Angeles); Best of Year 2007 organised by Interior Design (New York); an honourable mention at Red Dot design awards 2008; Industrial Design prize for the Asociación Española de Profesionales del Diseño; and the Delta Awards Selection.
